Aerosol Propellant Safety Seminar
November 10, 2016 | Chicago, IL
Co-Hosted with the Midwest Aerosol Association (MAA)

Looking to improve your safety IQ about aerosol propellants?
On November 10th, 2016, the Consumer Specialty Products Association will once again offer its popular workshop on Aerosol Propellant Safety Seminar. Please join us for the most up-to-date safety systems used in the storage and handling of aerosol propellants, which will be covered in depth by industry experts.

If your company is part of the aerosol industry, this course is essential for your business, bringing you the latest in safety regulations and trends, along with state-of-the-art equipment and techniques.

As an aerosol business partner, this course is essential for:
Operations Managers • Industry Consultants • Gas House Personnel • Plant Engineers • Designers • Safety Managers • Equipment Handlers • Tank Farm Supervisors • Laboratory Managers • Plant Managers

During this intensive day, you will:
• Be exposed to the most current thinking, knowledge and procedures regarding the safe and efficient use of propellants in the aerosol plant and laboratory
• Gain latest skills and insights and profit from advice and guidance from expert industry speakers
• Improve your knowledge and understanding of the complexities involved in today’s regulations
• Learn the latest fire safety techniques in all aspects of propellant handling
• Receive, as part of your registration fee, a binder of course materials that includes the newly-revised 2016 CSPA Aerosol Propellant Safety Manual.
